Not financial advice. Crypto trading involves substantial risk of loss. ForecastsPro is software, not a broker, exchange, custodian or investment adviser, and nothing on this site or in the app is a recommendation to buy or sell any asset. We do not guarantee any profit. Only trade what you can afford to lose.

AI-generated. It can be wrong. The analysis, the reasoning and the confidence scores come from an AI model: they can be mistaken, incomplete or out of date, and a confidence score is the model's own estimate, not a probability of success.

Limits reduce risk; they do not remove it. The caps limit the capital at work, not losses; the daily-loss kill switch pauses new buys only; and a stop-loss does not guarantee the exit price, while the exchange can reject a protective order.

Paper trading first. Accounts start with trading off, and paper trading, with play money at Binance's public market prices, is the first mode that trades. Real-money trading is available: you switch it on yourself in Settings, after the safety checks, the real-money disclaimer and your own maximum amount and loss lock. Real-money trading, where available, may be restricted in your country (for example the EU/EEA, UK or US) because of local rules or Binance availability.

Demo data. The screenshots on this site show the real app with demo data, the risk-gate demo uses fixed sample data, and the live demo runs a simulated analyst on sample market data: none of them is live market data, real AI output or a trading result. The one exception is the recorded real analysis the live demo can show: what the AI answered on our own account on the date shown, labelled as such; it is not a trade and not a result. Demo, paper-trading and past results do not predict future results.

You pay for software, not for results. $699 a year while founding seats last, then $999, paid in crypto. All sales are final (see the Terms).
